AFTER

Gen. Tojo As Yanks Found Him

Gen. Hideki Tojo, Japan's Pearl Harbor premier, peers from a window of his home (above) to ask American intelligence officers the reason for their visit. Informed he was to be placed under arrest, Tojo slammed the window and disappeared. Moments later Yank officers and newsmen heard a shot and breaking into the war lord's house found him (at left) slumped, half-conscious, in a chair, a bullet in his chest. The man in the background holds the gun Tojo used in his bungling suicide attempt.

Blood of GI Saves Tojo

TOKYO, Sept. 12 (AP)—American occupation authorities tonight pressed the roundup of 47 Jap war leaders and renegade Occidentals as a gift of blood from a Pennsylvania sergeant probably saved the life of Hideki Tojo, principal architect of the infamous Pearl Harbor assault. Gen. MacArthur, extending his list of "wanted" men to include seven of the notorious Black Dragon Society's top terrorists, ordered dissolution of that jingoistic secret organization, which the Japs claimed had disbanded more than a month ago.

While the roundup bag increased one of the most badly wanted, Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, who sanctioned the murderous "death march of Bataan," fled to his islet home off the northwest coast.

One of those caught, however, was Heinrich Georg Stahmer, German ambassador, held chiefly responsible for bringing Japan into the Rome-Berlin Axis.

Stahmer came to Tokyo in 1940 as a special envoy on the Axis deal, was rewarded by being named Hitler's envoy to the Nanking puppet government and then became ambassador to Tokyo. He was a personal assistant to Nazi foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop.

Tojo, who attempted suicide yesterday, admittedly to escape trial as the main Japanese war criminal, but who missed his heart with a bullet from a pistol taken from a downed American flier, rallied strongly tonight after the transfusion of B-type whole blood and injections of penicillin.

Doctors who had said he had a better-than-even chance to live, declared his condition now was "very satisfactory." Tojo himself was strong enough to thank them and to tell a Japanese government representative, T. Suguki, who visited him at the American evacuation hospital in Yokohama, he appreciated the care he was getting.

The blood donation came from Sgt. John A. Archinal, a veteran of New Guinea and the Philippines, who said, "Im doing this so he can get his just dues and suffer for the 17 months he made me spend in New Guinea."

Gen. MacArthur's personal physician, Col. Roger Egeberg, rushed to Tojo's beside to join in the fight for his life.

Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander of Eighth Army occupation forces, said the best possible nursing care had been ordered, adding: "We want the Japanese government to know that."

(According to the International News Service, Brig. Gen. George W. Wright, Eighth Army surgeon, reporting on his 62-year-old patient, said tersely yesterday: "Condition good; prognosis fair.")

Eichelberger said Tojo shot himself with a U. S. Army Air Corps pilot's pistol. The number of the Colt automatic, 535330, was too high for prewar issue, the general said.

He reported that Tojo, asked

YAMASHITA ENTERS BILIBID—Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, commander of all Jap forces in the Philippines and conquerer of Singapore, enters Bilibid prison at Manila. Informed a list of war criminals had been posted the once arrogant "Tiger of Malaya" commented that he expected he would soon be on the list—and would hang.

Yamashita Expects to Hang He Admits in Manila Prison

By PAT ROBINSON

MANILA, Sept. 12 (INS)—Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, the "Tiger of Malaya," predicted gloomily today he will be hanged as a war criminal.

Yamashita, who was playing a Japanese game with other Nip generals and admirals in a cell of New Bilibid prison, said when he saw me: "Here comes Mister Bad News."

I assured him that was what I brought—bad news for him. I showed him dispatches telling of Tojo's suicide attempt and Gen. MacArthur's roster of Jap war criminals.

The Jap generals and admirals all crowded around Yamashita's interpreter, who translated the dispatches, but not the animated pow-wow that ensued.

Then Yamashita, looking at me, said:

"I suppose I'll be soon on that list, and they'll hang me."

Cheerfully, I assured him that such probably would be the case. He grinned wryly and fingered his fat throat.

Then he looked questioningly at Sgt. Charles Rexroad, who accompanied me. Rexroad had been eyeing Yamashita speculatively, and nobody likes to have Rexroad eye them speculatively.

For many years, Rexroad served as the California State official executioner at San Quentin prison, and his job in the Pacific is hanging murderers. There's a sailor in the next cell waiting for Rexroad.

I asked Yamashita again if he contemplated hara-kiri and he replied, scornfully: "No."

Asked what he thought of Tojo shooting himself, he shrugged and answered: "That is his affair."

I related some accounts of atrocities I'd heard from returning prisoners of war and Yamashita asked if these stories weren't isolated, exaggerated cases, like the German atrocities in World War I.

I told him the evidence was imprinted on the bodies of the victims. As I turned to leave Yamashita said something which the interpreter hesitated to translate. Urged to do so, he quoted Yamashita as saying:

"Tell Mr. Bad News he ought to wear crepe if he comes here again."

I replied:

"Tell the general nothing would give me greater pleasure than the necessity for wearing crepe—for him."

Later, Sgt. Rexroad said:

"I figure I could do a beautiful job stretching Yamashita's fat neck, and I can't think of anybody's I'd rather stretch—except Homma's."

It was Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, conqueror of the Philippines, who ordered the Bataan "death march."

Another Tokyo Warlord Suicide

By The Associated Press

Field Marshal Gen. Sugiyama, former war minister, committed suicide today, the Tokyo radio said.

Sugiyama was former chief of the army general staff and was relieved of his post in February, 1944.

He was made inspector general of military education later and became minister of war in Premier Kuniaki Koiso's cabinet July 23, 1944.

Caught!

TOKYO, Sept. 12 (INS)—Adm. Shigetaro Shimada, navy minister in Ex-Premier Hideki Tojo's cabinet who is accused of planning the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, was arrested today at his home between Tokyo and Yokohama by Maj. Paul Krause who yesterday arrested Tojo.

British Rule Own Affair --- Truman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (INS)—President Truman today denounced as a "silly conclusion" reports circulated in some quarters that Britain would have trouble floating a loan in the United States because the Chief Executive will not support a socialist government.

He told his news conference Great Britain is entitled to the sort of government her people want and that it was none of our affair.

GUERNSEY, Sept. 12 (AP)—E. Phillips Oppenheim, 79, author of more than 150 mystery thrillers, returned to his home on this island today. He plans a new book dealing with the war.

Somerville Flier Safe as 14 Die

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 12 (AP)—Fourteen Navy men died today in the crash of a big, four-engined Privateer which, with one engine afire, was being guided to cleared runways of the Miami Naval Air Station by radio. One man escaped by leaping with his parachute.

The man who jumped was W. J. De Roche, 41 Pearl st., Somerville, Mass., aviation ordnanceman, who attempted to rescue his comrades but was driven away by flames and exploding ammunition.

Naval authorities gave this description of the tragedy:

The big plane with 15 men aboard took off from the naval air station on a regular training flight and as it gained the air observers in the control tower saw that its No. 3 engine was afire.

"Your engine is afire," the pilot was told by radio. "You will land immediately on any runway. All runways are being cleared for you."

Every plane in the vicinity was ordered out of the way of the distressed craft as the pilot acknowledged the message and began to turn back toward the field.

"The aircraft circled and made a normal, three-engine approach. At about 500 feet with smoke getting into the cabin, one man was observed to parachute to safety. No one else left the plane," the Navy reported.

"The aircraft suddenly dived, crashed and exploded. There were no other survivors. Names of the dead will be released after next of kin have been notified."

Japs Surrender Southeast Asia

SINGAPORE, Sept. 12 (AP)—Adm. Mountbatten received the surrender of all Japanese forces in southeast Asia and the East Indies today from Gen. Seishiro Itagaki, representing the ailing commander of the Japanese southern armies, Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi.

Promptly after the ceremony the Allied southeast Asia commander announced he would tolerate no arrogance from the Japanese.

Reds Allow Civil Rule to Germans

BERLIN, Sept. 12 (INS)—Soviet military authorities today announced institution of a German civil government within the Russian-occupied area of Germany to administer all branches of nonmilitary public services. Neither the United States nor Great Britain has announced similar plans.

Russia has granted a two-hundred-million-mark loan to provinces within its jurisdiction for use as bank credits.

WAR CRIMINAL SURRENDERS TO NEWS MEN—Captured on a tip given by Japanese secret police, Gestapo Col. Joseph Albert Meisinger (center) known as the "Butcher of Warsaw" surrendered to Clark Lee (r.) of International News Service, an unidentified war correspondent (l.) and another news man. Meisinger is charged with the murder of more than 100,000 Warsaw Jews.

Cowan Convicted, Appeals Jail Term

Wilbur Cowan, 34, West Springfield war worker, was found guilty of trespassing and inciting to riot in East Boston District Court today after his counsel, former Lt. Gov. Kelly, castigated two Boston police officers bitterly for clubbing the defendant in Suffolk Downs stewards' stand last Aug. 11.

Judge Brown found Cowan not guilty of charges of assault and battery on the two officers, Patrolmen Salvatore J. Ingeneri and John M. McDonnell.

He imposed a three months' jail term on the charge of inciting to riot and a $10 fine for trespassing and Cowan announced he would appeal both findings.

Labeling the two officers as "cream-puff champions" and "showoffs" in his closing argument, Kelly accused them of coming into court and trying to make a "Joe Louis or Jack Dempsey" out of his 132-pound client.

"Thousands were at the track that day and witnessed the cowardly, cruel and murderous assault these two officers made on this defendant," Kelly shouted. "Can they all be wrong and these two officers right?

"The public was the judge and jury in this case and the public rendered an immediate verdict at the track. If anyone is guilty of inciting a riot, it is these two officers. They are a disgrace to their department.

"One of them comes in here today and says he has been unable to work because of the terrific beating he claims this defendant gave him. Yet, the hospital interne testified he was disharged from the hospital the same night.

"These officers had no right to use more than reasonable force, yet you heard witnesses from all walks of life testify to the savage and brutal beating they gave this defendant.

"As far as trespassing is concerned, that cnarge is knocked out the window by the failure of the track to post signs or acquaint patrons with when or where they could not go. Unwritten rules don't mean anything.

The defendant had a $10 investment on this horse which was disqualified by the stewards.

"This was the only horse disqualified by these $100-a-day dictators in the entire 54-day meeting, although jockeys had claimed many fouls previously. They get $100 a day—$5400 a year—as much as the judge of this court receives in a year. Yet one of them, Conklin, had the temerity to say this was not enough.

"They disagreed with each other in their testimony and they disagreed with the officers."

Kelly had rested his case, without producing any additional witnesses immediately after Capt. Frank Sliney concluded his case with evidence from Police Lt. Cornelius O'Brien, of the East Boston station, and Dr. Jonathan B. Gill, City Hospital interne, who treated the injured officers. They followed the two patrolmen in the case on the stand.

Ingeneri, first of the two officers to testify, declared he had

Being an Atheist Is Fun Sometimes, Boy Testifies

URBANA, Ill., Sept. 12 (AP)—James Terry McCollum, 10-year-old central figure in a religious education suit, was a little dubious on the witness stand today as to whether "it's fun to be an atheist."

"In a way it is, and in a way it ain't," he replied to a question by John L. Franklin, counsel for the Champaign board of education.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Vashti McCollum, wife of a University of Illinois professor, brought suit in circuit court in his behalf to prohibit religious education in public schools of adjacent Champaign.

In cross-examination the lad, usually called Terry, by Franklin and Atty. A. R. Peterson, said he didn't try to keep it a secret that he didn't believe in God and, in fact, "about everyone in the city of Champaign knows it now."

When Franklin asked if he enjoyed "being different from other people about believing in God," Terry replied "yes."

Terry testified he said the Lord's Prayer while attending a university summer demonstration school "but I didn't know it at the start; I joined in with the others after awhile, and I've forgotten it now."

He said he had attended the Unitarian Church Sunday school but didn't know if they said prayers—"they said some kind of words."

Asked "to whom were they speaking when they prayed?" Terry replied: "I don't know if they were speaking to anybody, but they weren't speaking to God."

"Are prayers just a bunch of words?" the lawyers asked.

"Yeah, just a bunch of words," he said.

"Have you made up your mind about your beliefs in God?" Franklin asked.

"Pretty much," Terry replied.

"What about the existence of God?" Franklin asked.

"As far as I'm concerned there isn't any," he replied.

Terry testified he was a Cub Scout and had told "the other kids" he couldn't become a Boy Scout because he couldn't take the Scout oath.

Yesterday Terry testified he wanted to take the religion courses in school but his mother declined to give her consent, as required.

Shirley Temple Weds Sept. 19

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12 (AP)—Shirley Temple will be married next Wednesday evening to Sgt. John Agar of the Army Air Forces.

The ceremony, to be performed at the Wilshire Methodist Church by Rev. Willsie Martin, will be simple. Shirley's brother Jack will be best man, and his wife, Miriam, matron of honor. High school classmates of the 17-year-old actress will be bridesmaids.

Retail Gas, Oil Cuts Monday

Retail ceiling prices on gasoline and fuel oil will be reduced in Massachusetts and other eastern seaboard states next Monday according to an OPA announcement in Washington today.

An Associated Press dispatch stated retail gasoline ceiling prices would be reduced 1.2 cents while the prices of kerosene, Nos. 1 and 2 fuel oil and range oil would be reduced 1.5 cents, except in the Metropolitan Boston area, where the cut would be 1.4 cents.

Girl Fined $5 For Letting Blind Vet Drive Auto

The story of an almost totally blind war veteran driving an automobile from Park sq., Boston, to Memorial dr., Cambridge, at midnight, was told in Middlesex superior court today at the trial of a Wellesley stenographer on a charge of allowing an unlicensed person to operate a motor vehicle.

Miss Carolyn May MacKinnon, 21, of Sheridan rd., told Judge Abraham E. Pinanski she turned the car over to the veteran with instructions to "get someone to drive him back to Cambridge."

"You mean this man actually drove the car?" asked the judge. "That's positively fantastic."

Miss MacKinnon explained she hired the car in Cambridge to "do a good turn" for the soldier and another disabled veteran by taking them for a ride. She said her girl friend went along.

"When I got to Park sq. I was afraid I'd miss my bus to Wellesley so I told them to see if they could get someone to drive them back to Cambridge," she testified.

Police said the veteran drove the car into a tree in Memorial dr., Cambridge.

Judge Pinanski imposed a $5 fine, commenting it was unfortunate a "good turn" ended so badly.

Neighbors' Tilt Over Boy Commando Lands in Court

A West Roxbury neighborhood row landed in superior court today, with 6-year-old Billy Stahler of Woodward rd. portrayed as an anti-social commando.

After hearing of Billy's alleged rampages, Judge Harold P. Williams took under advisement a bill in equity brought by Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Collins to enjoin Patrolman and Mrs. William Stahler from interfering with the peaceful possession and occupation of their property, from trespass.

Mrs. Collins testified there hadn't been any peaceful possession or occupation since last September when, she said, Billy, next door, launched his offensive.

She testified he hit her with a broom handle, hit her in the stomach and cut her wrist with rocks, beat up her two obys, once threw stones at hre house for as old hour, broke windows and screens, pulled off a front screen door, damaged her shrubbery and dumped snow in the hallway.

Once in a while, she said, he would invade the premises toting a hatchet and a knife.

Patrolman Stahler testified Mrs. Collins had a long driveway and in the winter it was her pleasure to sovel the snow out of it and on his shrubbery.

She once rang his doorbell, he added, and ordered him to bring home his "——brat." On another occasion she called him a "cheap cop" and declared her husband made more money, he added.

Mrs. Stahler said she couldn't remember that Billy had thrown any rocks at the Collins domicile.

Billy did not testify.

Army to Free 6 Million by July

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Undersecretary of War Patterson told Senators today the Army expects to discharge 6,000,000 men by next July 1.

Defending the point system of demobilization in testimony before the Senate military committee, Patterson said it should bring the Army down to 2,500,000 men by the middle of 1946.

He vigorously rejected a proposal by Sen. Johnson (D.) of Colorado, that Congress set up a special agency to police demobilization. Johnson asked if it would be "harmful" for Congress to name a committee to "watch the situation closely," stating members were being "overwhelmed" with requests for discharges.

"I believe it would be harmful," Patterson replied. "Demobilization is the Army's task. I think that in the last five years of meeting war problems the Army has shown the competence and ability to undertake the task."

In response to questions by Sen. Bridges (R.) of New Hampshire, Patterson said that no men with more than 45 points were being sent to the Pacific occupational forces. He said this frees virtually all of those who saw combat in Europe, except for a few there only a very short time.

A question by Sen. Revercomb (R.) of West Virginia on Army recruiting was referred to Maj. Gen. Stephen Henry of the Army personnel division. Henry said the Army was getting information on voluntary enlistments to all field commanders, but added that new legislation is needed before an intensive recruiting drive can be undertaken among civilians.

The selective service law restricted enlistments.

Patterson said the War Department estimated it might get 300,000 volunteers. He said about 800,000 men had been in the Army a year or less. He estimated selective service inductions to next July at 500,000.

"Do you see any possibility of cutting off the draft before July ?" Senator Burton (R.) of Ohio asked.

"No, sir," Patterson replied.

Rush to Convert For Oil Heat

Oil dealers in Boston are flooded with orders for conversion to oil heat this winter from householders who want to change from coal burning.

Government warnings emphasizing a threatened coal shortage and the tremendous quantities of oil made available since V-J Day are causing the clamor for immediate conversion by those who already own heaters which had been converted to coal.

Many householders with supplies of coal in the cellar are selling them back to coal companies or exchnaging them for oil.

The industry, however, is unable to cope with the sudden gigantic demand as few new burners are available and there is lack of labor for installation.

Clyde G. Morrill, executive director of the Independent Oil Men's Ass'n of New England, estimates new burners will be coming through around Nov. 1, but stresses that few will be able to convert this year, due to the labor shortage.

The motor vehicle registry notified 337 Newton motorists today that their registrations will be revoked unless they pay their motor excise taxes within 30 days.

USMC Cuts Point Score from 85 to 70

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The Marine Corps today reduced its critical point score for release of male personnel from 85 to 70 points, and authorized release of all Marines 35 years of age and older, effective immediately.

There was no change in the critical score for members of the women's reserve, which remains at 25 points.

The marine corps credit system provides one point for each month of service from September 16, 1940, to September 1, 1945; one point for each month overseas or at sea between the same dates; five points for each decoration and bronze service star, and 12 points for each dependent child, not exceeding three, under 18 years of age.

Court Weighs Suit of Vet For $12,000 in Loss of Job

Michael Salzman of Brooklyn, N. Y., a World War II veteran who claimed he was denied reinstatement to his job, was orifinally hired as a military substitute, Stanley B. Swartz, president of the London Coat Co., testified in Federal Court today.

The ex-soldier, claiming he would have earned $1000 a month if he had been rehired, sought $12,000 damages in lieu of his old job.

Judge George C. Sweeney took the case under admisement.

Swartz said Salzman was hired to replace Milton Winick as New York representative of the firm when the latter entered the service. He said Winick returned from the Army after Salzman was drafted and was given his old job back.

He testified Salzman asked for his position when he came out of the Army. He said he promised Salzman a job as a salesman when the war was ended "if business conditions warranted."

Swartz said the former soldier said he wanted $15,000 a year as a salesman. That was out of the question, Swartz said he replied.

He testified Salzman said he planned to hire Winick away from the London Coat Co. to work for him in his own business.

Salzman previously testified he was head of his own firm now and no longer wanted the job with the coat company. He said he was an attorney before joining the London Coat Co. and his annual income then ranged from $3000 to $10,000.

Delayed Schools Open Sept. 18

With the opening of Boston's public and parochial schools postponed until next Tuesday as a result of 52 reported cases of infantile paralysis in the city, principals and 4000 teachers met today to outline the school program.

Nine more cases were reported to the state board of health today, but Dr. Merrill Champion, director of the communicable diseases division, emphasized the situation was not of epidemic proportions by any means. Thus far in September 62 cases have been reported throughout the state.

Opening of the schools will see 60 teachers back on the job out of 325 who left for service with the armed forces. It is estimated that 98,000 students will return to the 243 school buildings, but the total may reach last year's 99,000.

Slug on Common Brings $25 Fine

Clarence C. Brown, 67, of Clement ave., West Roxbury, who styles himself an economist, advertising man and teacher on finance, was fined $25 in municipal court today for striking Samuel Tucker, 46, of Columbia rd., Dorchester, a man who has opinions of his own.

Brown told Judge Joseph E. Donovan he once was New England manager of the Chamber of Commerce and now likes to discuss world affairs during leisure moments on the Common.

"I was reading from William White's Report On Russia," Brown told the court, "when this man Tucker jumped up and shouted, 'Look whose defending capitalism, a broken down banker with last year's straw hat.'

"I didn't mind the reference to my clothes," Brown added, "but my friends respect my views. So I told this fellow to desist. I might have pulled his sleeve a little."

Tucker, however ,told the court Brown had punched him

Judge Donovan just smiled and said, "Guilty, $25 fine."

162 Army Nurses Weep With Joy as Ship Docks

After more than two years of battle front service, 162 returning Army nurses—pretty ones, too—took down their hair on Commonwealth Pier today and wept openly, laughed for a while and then sobbed some more out of sheer happiness.

The homecoming heroines were part of a contingent of 5611 soldiers, 243 from New England, who arrived here aboard the U.S.S. Gen. Richardson.

"I suppose we're sissies to cry," explained Lt. Evelyn Ridenower, 25, Frankfort, Ind., "but it's just so wonderful to be back in this wonderful United States after Africa, Italy and France.

"It's these little things in life that are important," she added, indicating a bottle of milk that vanished in a moment. "It's the first we've tasted in 25 months."

The nurses, 132 from the 43rd General Hospital unit, and 30 others of the 80th Station Hospital group, are going home on furlough in the Middle West and the South. None happens to be New Englanders.

When the first big cryfest was over, the nurses gathered at the milk canteen and really went to town.

"Cream on the top," one of them squealed. "No taste of chlorine," said another. "Honest-to-goodness cow," added one more.

None of them knew that Tojo had shot himself and was being kept alive on American plasma and whole blood. They took the news with interest but had little to say, although one nurse wondered what it would be like to be the gal on duty at the Jap warlord's bedside.

First New England soldier ashore was T5 Leonard Cole, 25, Plymouth st., Abington, whose chief interest was to get home to see his wife, Marie, who bid him goodby two and one-half years ago. He's a member of the 45th Infantry Division and wants to get back to his old job with the United Shoe Machinery Corp. as soon as possible.

Later in the day, the USS Gen. Callan arrived at the same pier, bringing back 3764 passengers, 174 from this area.

In this group were nurses of the 221st General Hospital unit, including the following from Massachusetts: Lts. Margaret Harrington, 22, So. Sixth st., New Bedford; Vina Hatch, 24, Marshall st., Medford; Myrtle Knott, Holden; Dorothy Hjeln, Longmeadow; Florence Nicholson, Bennington st., Quincy; Barbara Dupray, Glen rd., Jamaica Plain; Alice Lillis, 24 Central ave., Everett; Eleanor Lewis, Colby rd., No. Quincy; Mary Laffley, 31, Back Bay, and Helen Clark, Commonwealth ave., Allston.

Due tomorrow is the USS Brastagi with 172 New Englanders among her 1249 passengers. She was originally scheduled to dock this afternoon.

Red Rations Ease But Not End Oct. 1

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (INS)—The Journal-American was informed today by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, in agreement with the OPA, that the widespread demand for abolition of meat rationing by Oct. 1 has been rejected.

A policy of gradual easement, through reducing red points and taking individual items off rationing, was outlined by Nathan Koenig, executive assistant to Agriculture Secretary Anderson.

Koenig said that "point values for October will be printed shortly."

"Reports indicate choice cuts of beef are not plentiful, even though other cuts are abundant. Pork products are scarce, and will remain scarce into December," he said.

"It is expected that as an item moves into the class of abundant supply, it will be taken off rationing. When an improvement shows, ration points will be reduced. But there is no intention to end rationing completely by one single order or at a fixed date."

Meat Rationing May Bring Strike in Canada

OTTAWA, Sept. 12 (AP)—Canada was threatened today with a dominion-wide strike of meat dealers in protest against a two-day-old rationing order the government says is aimed at providing more meat for Britain and the liberated countries of Europe.

In St. John, N. B., 95 per cent of the meat dealers voted to discontinue sale of rationed meat Sept. 24. In London, Ont., more than 100 dealers adopted a resolution, sent to Prime Minister King, protesting meat rationing of any kind.

At the principal market in Ottawa, farmers and meat dealers packed up their products and went home after protesting they had no buyers.

Consumer Credits To Be Eased Soon

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (INS)—Early announcement of relaxation of regulation of consumer credit by the Federal Reserve Board is anticipated shortly. Credit controls still in effect include limitation of charge accounts, regulation of installment plan terms, control of the size of loans and supervision of the period of repayment of loans.

Credit restrictions on purchase of building repair materials probably will be first to be rescinded.

'Pappy' Boyington Given Ovation by Black Sheep Pals

OAKLAND, Calif., Sept. 12 (AP)—"Pappy" Boyington is back with his "black sheep" squadron gang again.

The swashbuckling, 26-plane Marine ace had no sooner landed at the Oakland airport this morning than he was grabbed by 18 of his former buddies and paraded on their shoulders around the runway.

Twenty-one other passengers aboard the naval air transport plane were virtually ignored by the crowd.

It was Gregory Boyington, 32, an almost legendary figure from the early days of the aerial warfare in the southwest Pacific, that the people wanted to see.

"Pappy's" face broke into a broad grin as he poked his head from the door of his plane and saw the men with whom he made aerial history.

"This is the most wonderful thing that has happened to me," he shouted.

The Okanogan, Wash., flier wore wore fur-lined leather jacket, Marine green twill pants and the silver leaves of a lieutenant colonel on his cap. His promotion from major followed his release from the Omori prison camp near Yokohama Aug. 30.

Roxbury Boy, 9, Missing

Sometime early Monday morning her 9-year-old son, William, slipped out of bed, dressed, left the house and has not been seen since, Mrs. Florence Wenzell, Highland st., Roxbury, told police today.

Mrs. Wenzell, wife of a serviceman overseas and mother of eight other children, told Roxbury Crossing station officers she had put the boy to bed at 9:30 p. m. Sunday.

When she retired at midnight, she said, he was sleeping but when she awoke Monday morning, she discovered his bed empty.

Randolph Vet To Push Fight

On the urging of friends and vetrans' organizations, Edward T. Clark, 31-year-old wounded veteran of World War II, decided today to carry to the highest State authorities his fight for reinstatement as a police officer in his home town of Randolph.

Townspeople voted 435 to 234 on Monday night "not to reinstate and re-employ" Clark to an inside department post—a job he sought on the basis of wounds suffered in France while fighting with the 79th Division. He claimed a shattered kneecap left him unable to patrol a beat.

Clark said he now has a good job at the Boston Navy Yard but feels it his duty to protest the action of Randolph in the interests of thousands of returning servicemen who will be seeking their old jobs under guarantee of the GI Bill of Rights.

Bobby-Soxer Tells Of Hoax to Get Ale

The ingenuity of a bobby-soxer when she sets out to hoodwink a tavern manager into selling her a stein of ale is something to set one on one's heels, it was demonstrated in municipal court today.

Katherine M. Moran, 18, of Cobden st., Roxbury, a petite brunette, was in the toils for procuring an alcoholic beverage, to wit, one ale, by falsely representing herself as a sophisticated 22. The place was the Spotlite Cafe, Essex st.

The instrument Miss Moran used to pry an ale out of the manager, George Mericantante, was a birth certificate so dated as to make her 22 years old.

"Where did you get it?" inquired Judge Jennie Loitman Barron.

"I got it at City Hall," Miss Moran replied demurely, "and I just used ing eradicator on it. That was a month ago."

"And why?" inquired Judge Barron.

"Well," said Miss Moran, "the crowd of girls I went around with used to go to those places and if there was a minor at the table, why, they couldn't get served. So, I coudin't be a minor."

Atty. John Drew, counsel for the cafe maanger—who was also in the toils, to be sure—asked her:

"When you went in that place you had arranged your attire so people would think you were over 21, hadn't you? You were all dolled up, weren't you?"

Miss Moran allowed herself the feminine gesture of lightly fingering several pretty flowers in her hair as she answered:

"Oh, no, I had bobby-sox on. I was far from being dolled up."

"And you didn't have flowers in your hair?" speculated Judge Barron.

"Oh, no," said Miss Moran.

"But your purpose was to deceive, wasn't it?" insisted the defense attorney.

"Oh, yes," smiled Miss Moran.

Miss Moran and her girl friend, Marion Euscher, 19, a blonde, had made the mistake of hoisting their ales right in front of two policewomen, Josephine Lally and Marie Fewora, who had gone into the cafe in search of another girl.

Miss Euscher also had a birth certificate—but it was that of a 22-year-old sister. It was an alegetter, too.

The policewomen testified the cafe manager was a right co-operative fellow and always ran an orderly place and did not serve the girls until he had been deceived by the birth certificates.

Judge Barron expressed no doubt but stressed the legislature had said nothing about good intentions when it outlawed the selling of alcoholic beverages to minors. She fined Manager Mericantante $25, which left him with a loss of $24.80 on the sale of two ales.

She then called the girls to the bench and gave them an old-fashioned scolding, telling them not to do it again because they were now on probation for one year.

Court OK's Spanking Ma

DES MOINES, Sept. 12 (AP)—A mother insisted in municipal court it was her duty to whip her child "for telling a fib" and the court gave a $10 suspended fine to a neighbor who interfered.

The mother, Mrs. James Easley, accused Eugene Johnson of disturbing the peace by shouting through her window while she was whipping her son with a thin board.

"It's about time somebody rewarded a mother who has the courage to punish her child," asserted Asst. County Atty. Anthony T. Renda. "With all this juvenile delinquency it's a good thing to let the country know about a woman who uses corporal punishment on her children."

Johnson said the child's screams were disturbing his small daughter, who was seriously ill.

Bay State Bishop Freed by Japs

Most Rev. Raymond A. Lane, director of Maryknoll missionary work in Manchuria and brother of Lewis D. Lane of West Andover, has been liberated after nearly 4 years internment by the Japs, the War Dep't announced today.

Bishop Lane

Bishop Lane, a native of Lawrence, was one of four Catholic clergymen tentatively listed for release in January, 1943. The plan, however, was not carried out by the Japs and Bishop Lane was held until Allied troops reached the mission at Fushun, Manchuria.

He was consecrated a bishop in 1940 at ceremonies in St. Mary's Church, Lawrence.

Liberation Like Big Carnival As GIs Take Over in Korea

RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

SEOUL, Korea, Sept. 12 (AP)—This Korean capital of about 1,000,000 population has maintained a county fair atmosphere ever since its liberation, with spontaneous parades, flag-waving and general whoopee up and down the streets.

Grinning GI's are besieged by friendly Koreans on all sides. Street cars jammed with passengers toot whistles continuously while bullock cart drivers jingle bells.

Citizens applaud and shout every time they spy an American. Work ceases and a crowd instantly surrounds him, cackling and grinning.

Japanese soldiers still stand at sentry posts, with Americans on duty at the same places. The Japs invariably look like sullen manikins alongside the husky white men. The Japs do much bowing and saluting every time they change the guard, while the Americans watch in silent amusement.

Seoul is a weird mixture of East and West, with such typical contrasts as a sweating ricksha coolie running alongside a polished sedan, and old women carrying tremendous burdens on their backs as big Army trucks rumble past.

The market districts are popular with the Americans, who are busy buying such souvenirs as silks, lacquer boxes and tiny ornamental Korean wedding hats.

BRITISH IN HONGKONG

HONGKONG, Sept. 12 (AP)—Approximately 2500 troops of the British Army's third commando brigade landed at Hongkong today to supplement the Marines and Royal Australian Air Force personnel which made the original occupation.

4F'ers Re-examined, Many Taken in Draft

Men between 18 and 26, formerly classified as 4F in the draft, are being re-examined by selective service boards and a large percentage of those rejected in the past five years are now being accepted for service, it was reported today.

Although draft calls are not large compared with wartime quotas, selective service officials said few men were available except 18-year-olds and those formerly rejected for physical reasons.

Stranded Houses To Be Sold Here

Manufactured originally for use in Great Britain, hundreds of prefabricated houses will be made available shortly to ease the acute housing shortage in Greater Boston, it was reported today.

Disclosure that 118 units of the houses were packed in freight trains in North Cambridge and 300 others were being held in New England plants, as a result of termination of lend-lease, was followed by immediate action in Washington.

W. B. Shipway, special assistant to the director of the Foreign Economic Administration, announced that British officials had decided not to accept shipment because Britain could not afford to pay for the houses.

THE PRIME OF LIFE CAN BE PROLONGED

Dr. Henry G. Sherman Says:

"A generous supply of Calcium results in better development of the young, a higher form of adult health, and a longer lease of what we may call the prime of life—the period between maturity and old age."

FOOD RATIONING MAY NOT SUPPLY SUFFICIENT CALCIUM, SAYS CLAUDE WICKARD, former U. S. Secretary of Agriculture.

Calcium is more often deficient in the diet than any other mineral. Calcium deficiency is a form of malnutrition that may be the cause of adults nervousness, fatigue, weakened heart muscles and other effects which hasten the onset of "OLD AGE" and shorten the "PRIME OF LIFE."

AM I NERVOUS?

Restlessness with rasped, jagged nerves may be due to a calcium deficiency which incites the parathyroid glands causing intense sensitivity of the whole nervous system.

DO I TIRE EASILY?

A calcium starved body tires easily. A calcium deficiency may cause an upset nerve system, less strength, energy and vitality. No person can be normal without a sufficient supply of calcium.

AM I OLD AT 40?

Old at 40, evidences of early aging, perhaps at 50 or 60, may be due to calcium deficiency. Calcium is needed, in adequate amount, in the repair and growth of body organs, tissues cells. If your health is impaired, if you are run down, tired, old at 40 and nervous because you do not get enough Calcium or Phosphorus or Vitamin D or Vitamin B1 add KAL to your diet. See how much better you feel after KAL helps to build up, then maintain a normal Calcium-Phosphorus balance and help overcome the ill effects of a deficiency of the vital elements KAL so richly supplies.

Poor Digestion? YES ☐ NO ☐
Headachy? ☐☐
Sour or Upset? ☐☐
Tired-Listless? ☐☐

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Riot

been unable to report for duty since the riot last Aug. 31 because of injuries he suffered battling with Cowan.

Asked to tell what happened, he testified he was on duty at the winners' circle when he noticed a commotion in the stewards' stand after the seventh race and saw Steward Conklin beckoning him to come over.

"I crossed the track and asked him if anything was wrong," he testified. "He told me 'yes, there's a man causing a disturbance here and he won't leave.' I climbed up said to the man: 'Come on, fella, let's leave.'

"'I'm not going to leave here until I kill a couple of these guys,' he said, and I told him again, 'Come on, fella, you have to leave.' He told me he wouldn't leave until he cleaned the place out.

"I told him I'd have to arrest him for trespassing and stepped forward to put my hand on him. I'm sure I hadn't touched him when he punched me. He hit me in the right shoulder and spun me around. Then he kicked me in the back, knocking me across a table to the floor.

"I saw McDonnell getting up, groaning with pains in the groin. I tried to grab Cowan and he kicked me in the stomach and knocked me back again and came at me.

"I pulled my stick as we went down with him on top of me. He was biting and using his feet and hands. He was on top of me, but I struggled around on top of him. I was bleeding badly from a cut over the right eye and the blood was pouring on Cowan.

"Lt. O'Brien came up some time later and I went to City Hospital in an ambulance. I had injuries to the left kidney, back and stomach and right elbow and several cuts from shattered glass."

He asserted he had struck Cowan twice with his strick and had used it because it was necessary.

Under cross-examination by Kelly, Ingeneri admitted he had been present during the two days of the hearing and had heard no other witness who was in the stewards' stand testify that Cowan had kicked either officer.

Reminded by Kelly that Cowan weighed only 132 pounds, Ingeneri caused a laugh in the courtroom with the rueful comment that "he fought like a 300-pounder."

Kelly questioned him closely on his absence from duty since the riot and the patrolman insisted he was unable to work. He said efforts had been made to keep him in the hospital but that he wanted to go home, so he left the same night.

During the questioning, Kelly brought out that Ingeneri had lost his club in the melee in the stand but had not reported it in writing despite a department rule regarding lost equipment. He said he believed he had told Lt. Wilson of the loss.

Earlier Edward F. Goode, treasurer of the track, testified Cowan struck the first blows and that he was struck "two or three" times with clubs by each officer. He witnessed the entire incident from the clubhouse roof until Cowan was beaten to the floor of the stewards' stand, he said.

During cross-examination, Goode declared entree to the stewards' stand was only by permission of the stewards, who were in control of the track during racing, but admitted there were no signs posted to that effect.

Questioned by Kelly as to where the public might register complaints to the stewards, Goode replied they had an office in the administration building. He admitted, however, that Kelly was correct in declaring the door of the office was marked "No Admittance."

The only other witness of the day, Julius Haller, Houghton pk., Needham, Boston insurance man, testified he had witnessed the incident from a point near where Goode had been sitting. He agreed he had seen no bottles thrown or no one go out on the track until Cowan had been clubbed.

Blood-Donor's Wife Comments

ALLENTOWN, Pa., Sept. 12 (AP)—"Tojo will live now with some of Jack's blood in him," Mrs. John A. Archinal of Allentown said today after learning her husband had donated the blood used for ex-Premier Hideki Tojo's first whole blood transfusion.

Mrs. Archinal said her husband, who scales 200 pounds and stands 6 feet 1 inch tall, told her before he went overseas 21 months ago he would "put the Japs in their place in two weeks."

Archinal, who managed a bar in this Lehigh Valley town before entering the Army, is 38 years old an expert swimmer and was regarded as "everybody's pal" in Allentown.

Tojo

where he obtained the gun, had replied "from the Japanese War Department."

"I believe the pistol was taken from an American aviator shot down during the war," Eichelberger concluded. He has the pistol, together with the hara-kari knife and unsheathed ceremonial sword found near Tojo.

Four nurses arrived from the 42d General Hospital, University of Maryland Unit; Lts. Elizabeth Gunby, Birdie Gorsuch, Elizabeth Nunneless and Rebecca Schmidt, who remarked: "I didn't think we would come to this, after 40 months overseas!"

Tojo said he fired his hasty pistol shot yesterday as American war crimes investigators pounded at his door because he "did not want to stand before the victor to be tried."

As Tojo lived on, although not yet out of danger, the Tokyo newspaper Mainichi said bluntly: "The general masses clamored for his death."

Twenty thousand units of penicillin were injected at three-hour intervals. He was given more plasma today. His temperature was above 100 and his pulse was 122 compared with a normal 72.

Today Tojo, who had been quoted as saying "I will shoulder the whole responsibility" for the war but insisted he wanted to die, was sufficiently conscious to mumble "thank you" in English for a glass of water—and to spurn an offer of breakfast with coffee.

First to be detained of the others that Gen. MacArthur had ordered held included Stahmer, Jorge Vargas, puppet Philippines ambassador to Japan; Mark Lewis Streeter, American captured at Wake island by the Japanese and charged with later making propaganda broadcasts for them from a prison camp, and Col. Josef Alfred Meisinger, police attache at the German embassy.

Stahmer's confinement in the Fujiya hotel at Miyanishita was described as "protective custody."

Also on the wanted list, Adm. Shigetaro Shimada, Tojo's navy minister, was quoted by Domei as explaining he had decided against suicide and had "nothing to say" while awaiting the war-crimes trial he expects.

"AND SO, my Fellow Countrymen, today I report to you that your sons and daughters have served you well and faithfully with the calm, deliberate, determined fighting spirit of the American soldier and sailor. Based upon a tradition of historical trait, as against fanaticism of an enemy supported only by mythological fiction, their spiritual strength and power has brought us through to victory. They are homeward bound—take care of them."—General Douglas MacArthur in speech to people of the United States, following Japanese surrender aboard U. S. S. Missouri, September 2, 1945.

WAKE UP!

RICHARD C. COOKE, regional director of the Smaller War Plants Corp., has joined the fight against smugness and ruinous complacency.

Mr. Cooke gives us this challenging statement:

"The small industries of New England are being outdistanced in the national reconversion race.

"Almost everyone here is calm, contented and satisfied, while other sections are definitely wooing industry away from our six States.

"Louisiana, for example, is offering new industry tax-free locations for 20 years.

"Let our small industries look at the wartime development of large industry in the West and South.

"These new-comers are in industry to stay; they are not going back to farming."

The time has come to WAKE UP.

Our public officials and too many business men and bankers have been asleep too long.

Thanks to our major role in wartime production, we can have the greatest prosperity in history.

But, first, we must make up our minds to work with each other for each other.

Cities and towns do not hesitate to exempt from taxation college dormitories, semi-private schools and other buildings and institutions which benefit only a small part of the population.

Let them show as much consideration for the industries in which a large part of the population earns its living.

NOT PLAYTHINGS

REP. WEICHEL of Ohio has asked military authorities to put an immediate stop to "circus" performances in Europe in which American paratroopers are being needlessly killed.

"Now that the war is over," he told the House this week, "the airborne troops who fought through the European campaigns deserve rest and safety, and should not be called upon to put on 'shows' of paratroop landings for the entertainment of visiting dignitaries."

Rep. Weichel is absolutely right.

Our boys should come home as soon as ships can bring them.

They should not be used as playthings for the Russians, British or anybody else.

HARD TO BELIEVE

AT A MEETING from which the press and American Legion State rehabilitation chiefs are said to have been barred, various residents of Randolph voted 435 to 234 against Edward E. Clark, a wounded veteran of this war, who sought a position as desk clerk in the Police Department where he was a patrolman before he answered his country's call and donned khaki.

We cannot believe that this rejection of a former soldier's plea reflects the true feelings of the townspeople.

There may have been too many absentees.

Or those present may have received bad advice.

It would therefore be well for Randolph to meet openly and vote again, lest the other lads who fought and won this war get the erroneous impression that their service and sacrifices are not properly appreciated by the stay-at-homers for whom they risked their lives.

On the Side By E. V. Darling

In that sweet mood when pleasant thoughts
Bring sad thoughts to the mind.
To her fair works did nature link.
The human soul that through me ran;
And much it grieved my heart to think,
What man has made of man.
—WORDSWORTH.

(New Yorker, who lost a loved one in the war, says the above lines came to her mind on V-J Day.)

IN A FRANK discussion of the shortage of men's shorts, the well-known clothing industry trade-journalist, E. M. Ruttenber, says: "The woman's markets are short, stripped of panties and so the women are buying and wearing men's shorts all of which makes the shortage shorter." A fine state of affairs, says I. It's practically high treason. I will bring this matter up at the next meeting of the Husbands' Protective Association. Imagine women appropriating men's fine shorts while many a poor husband is forced to wear shorts his wife has made out of an old laundry bag. And think of a fellow like Robert Taylor going around in such attire!

EX-HUSBAND: Manhattan divorcee says she always refers to her former husband as "my child's father" rather than speaking of him as "my ex-husband." A very nice way of putting it. However, if this young and good looking divorcee marries again, which seems most likely, it may be that her second husband will not be pleased when she refers to her first husband as: "My child's father." Also when an ex-wife refers to an ex-husband as "my child's father" is is possibly an indication that for him "there is a little spark of love still burning." Such is the opinion of our Horses & Women experts.

PASSING BY: Lester O'Donnell. Popular mounted patrolman of Manhattan. Recently officated at an emergency blessed event and ushered twins into the world. One New York newspaper referred to him as the "champion baby delivery expert of the New York Police Department." Lester is a clever fellow and I do not wish to deprive him of any credit but the champion blessed event expert of the New York City police is a Brooklyn cop who has brought 16 babies, including one pair of twins, into the world. I can't think of this cop's name offhand but I warn you not to bet any stogies I am wrong about his record.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: Note "sixty-year-old brandy" mentioned. How accurate are the tests used to determine the age of brandy, wine and whiskey? Given a glass of any of these with no glimpse of the bottle, how close could an expert come to determining the age of the liquor? That is something I would like to know . . . In San Francisco, I have a reader named Patricio Francisco Aloysio de la Vasquez O'Casey . . . A Seattle subscriber claims the finest peaches in the world are grown at Ephrata, Wash., which is located halfway between Seattle and Spokane.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—There's an argument at our house which threatens to go on and on and finally lead to blows if not settled. Did Jeanette M a cDonald or Claudette Colbert play with Maurice Chevalier in "The Smiling Lieutenant"? A—It was Claudette Colbert. Q—Do you still maintain with your characteristic mulelike stubbornness that Gen. Douglas MacArthus is a cigar smoker? I have a picture of him smoking a corncob pipe. A—And so what, may I ask? I have a picture of the general smoking a cigar. He is a cigar smoker at heart, but, being a man capable of adapting himself to circumstances, smokes a pipe when he can't get a cigar. Q—The boys around the cigar store in Saratoga, where you used to come in and try to beat the slot machines, want to ask you one more: Do you think the running horses will run at Saratoga in 1946? A—Indeed I do. Saratoga will live again, bigger and better than ever before.

WASHINGTON SCENE

By GEORGE DIXON

(Distributed by King Features Synd., Inc. Reproduction Prohibited)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12—I wish it clearly understood that it is not my practice to rat on husbands who have called up their loving helpmeets and given them a long song and dance about why they couldn't get home that night.

The way I feel about it, ordinarily, is live and let live. But a grave situation has arisen. Unless I snitch it may develop into an international incident.

You wouldn't want to go to war with Mexico just because I refused to be a louse, would you?

The situation goes back to the evening of August 15, which is a date that should live in history. President Truman announced that Japan had surrendered.

Well, it seems that quite a few citizens of these United States were over in San Luis, Sonora, Mexico, that day doing goodness knows what. When Mr. Truman made his announcement they began celebrating—and continued throughout the night.

This would undoubtedly have furthered rather than retarded international relations except that, along about midnight, a goodly number of revelers began thinking about their ladies at home. They figured the old gals might get a bit huffy over them staying out all night so somebody figured out a brilliant solution.

The upshot was that they got on telephones and told their wives they were terribly provoked, but they couldn't get home because the border had been closed!

THE THING might have gone no further except that a number of wives in Yuma, Ariz., got all wrought up and called the editor of the Yuma Daily Sun and Arizona Sentinel to complain about the outrage which had kept their devoted husbands from their loving arms. The paper wrote a pretty indignant piece.

This came to the attention of Mr. Wirt G. Bowman, U. S. collector of customs at Nogales, Ariz., which is customs headquarters for that stretch of the border.

Not wishing to be put in the middle, Mr. Bowman immediately wrote to W. R. Johnson, commissioner of customs, at the Treasury Department here.

Mr. Bowman reported he had called the editor of the paper and demanded to know where the story had originated.

The editor said it had come from the families of gentlemen who had been held in San Luis from the evening of August 15 until midnight of the 16th.

Added Mr. Bowman, in what I consider a most restrained manner, considering:

"In view of all the information gathered by this office, it is the opinion that some person or persons wished to take the days off and reported the line as being closed in order to lead their employers or relatives to think they did not wish to remain away from their positions or families but were detained against their will.

"The records of this office show the international line at San Luis as having been open continuously since about 1931. Furthermore, the schedules of assignments of officers show four customs employes as being on duty as of Aug. 15 and 16, 1945, and none of these employes knew anything about the line being closed until they read it in the newspapers."

Commr. Johnson received a similar letter from Charles L. Johnston, deputy collector in San Luis, Ariz., who quite obviously wished to be taken off the hook, too.

There are a number of homes in Yuma I would not care to visit from now on because I feel it my duty to report that Commr. Johnson has just concluded his investigation and announced the border positively was never closed, just like Mr. Bowman and Mr. Johnston said.

WE LIVE OVER in Virginia. I wonder if I could get away with telling the little woman they closed the state line——?

PRESIDENT TRUMAN may have stumbled upon a time-saving device, the popularity of which may sweep the country.

The President, glinting mirth behind his spectacles, displayed the gadget at his last press conference. It is a revolving triangular sign.

The President gave it a series of twirls. One side said: "Yes." Another side said: "No."

The third side said: "Scram."

THE PRESIDENT kept on toying with the thing throughout the press conference. After a while the questions began getting a little thin. The President, as if unconscious of his action, gave the gadget one more turn and then left it alone.

Reporters in the front row grasped the hint. The side staring at them said: "Scram."

Substituting for Louella O. Parsons, Who Is on Vacation

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 12—It was a matter of time before we got "another" Kathleen Windsor, and sure enough, the literary bombshell about to be exploded next month is Nancy Bruff, beauty, bell and authoress of the Manatee."

Come October, Nancy's book hits the stands and several weeks later, after she welcomes her first child the lady gets the biggest exploitation splurge since forever Windsor.

Robert Young

Where Kathleen is an exotic brunette, Mrs. Bruff is blonde, willowy and tres photogenic—I've seen her petures. Now to get down to business, Annie Laurie Williams, the agent who handled "Gone With the Wind" and "Forever Amber," is asking $100,000 for movie rights to "The Manatee" and giving nobody an advance peek. The central character is one Jebez, described as a male "Amber"—and you can take it from there.

RKO DIDN'T WAIT long to grab Robert Young after it became official that Bob and MGM are parting company after 14 years. Understand the chief contention was he got far better roles on "loan out" than he did at home base. Certainly, two of his best, "The Enchanted Cottage" and "Those Endearing Young Charms" were made at RKO, where he is now on his third "Lady Luck" for Ed Mann. The new deal calls for one picture a year the next five years and you can bet he'll sign similar agreements with other major companies. Bob's one of the best actors in Hollywood.

THE NAVY has given the nod to Columbia to go ahead with "Secret Story"—a yarn Benny Zeidman discovered on the shelf long before V-J Day—but which has such highly loaded current implications it had to get government approval. Story deals with Jap fanatics who did everything to block peace. And what have we had in the headlines lately but those Jap officers who killed the commanding general of Hirohito's personal guard to prevent surrender to the U. S. and the Kamikaze pilots who attempted to foil peace negotiations and continue the war? After our Navy said "OK" the script was rushed to completion so work can start no later than September 17 on the timely-plus idea

DEAR LOP: You missed it. The christening party for Peter Charles Lewis (grade of Loretta Young and Tom Lewis) was a very star-studded affair. The young man was chucked under the chin by such admirers as Claudette Colbert, the Jack Bennys, the Ray Millands, Joan Bennett and Bob Hope. Mervin Le Roy came solo and soon after he arrived his ex, Doris Warner Leroy, showed up with her new heart, Charles Vidor. Lillian MacMurray wore the tallest hat and Gail Patrick the most unusual hair-do. During the festivities, Loretta and Lt. Robert Stack discovered they are cousins. Her brother, Ed Lindley, is married to Bob's second cousin . . . Buff Cobb is in St. John's Hospital with virus pneumonia, you'll be sorry to hear . . . Our friend, Bill Holden, is out of the Army after three and a half years with the Signal Corps, and Para is looking for a picture for him. But it won't be the Alan Ladd role in "California," which is a novelty. It's been rumored for everybody else . . . I know you'll be interested to hear Joseph Sistrom joins International Pictures in October on a long contract with Bill Goetz . . . Also, let's clear up this matter of why Jacqueline White is out of "The Yearling." The kid is too young for the role—not too inexperienced.

WALTER BRENNAN'S 21-year-old daughter, Ruth, signed a long-termer at Republic and is slated for some of their best dramatic roles. Ruth received her training at the Bliss-Hayden School, but says she got her best tips from her father who had her speaking "lines" before she could read. Fact is, the old man was directly responsible for her new deal. She visited him on the "Dakota" set and boss Hert Zatz got a look at her. That led to a test and the contract

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: Marguerite Chapman was Bentley Ryan's first date out of the Army. They're still talking about Sonja Henie's party that started just after sundown and saw the sun come up again. Most of the bodies, including the hostess, Claudette Colbert, Kitty Bylield and Lana Turner wore frothy white gowns but Lorena Danker, in black net, and Norma Shearer in a purple Grecian number, were on the different side. It was Lana's first appearance after a sojourn in the hospital. She still has to take it easy. It's to be hoped the columnist who took that ether crack about the Anita Colby-Clark Gable romance, got an eyeful of the attention he lavished on her all evening. "The Face" looking absolutely ravishing but the belle of the evening was Virginia Zanuck, dancing every number. She's the cutest thing, and the secret of her charm is she has more fun than anybody else. Remember, students, enthusiasm and vivacity are charming traits in a woman.

NOT TO INTERRUPT YOU, MISTER...
BUT I'VE BEEN LIVING IN BOARDING HOUSES FOR 35 YEARS ... AND EACH ONE HAD DRIPPING FAUCETS, CALLING-CARD SOAP AND A WINDY GUY WHO'S ALWAYS BEATING UP THE OTHER FELLOW'S EARS WITH A LOT OF GAFF!...
NOW, GET THIS... WHEN IT COMES TO GABBING, I'LL SETTLE FOR A NOD AND A HOWDY!
IN OTHER WORDS, JUDGE, YOU USE TOO MANY

LOU COSTELLO will be best man and Bud Abbott gives the bride away when Eddie Sherman marries Lillyan Luber tomorrow; this I love: The Indians who worked atmosphere on the "Bad Bascomb" location in Wyoming demanded $50 a day, and got it! That's one way of getting the country back from the Americans.

Writing Note of Sympathy

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN—My employer of many years (although not at present) has just lost his mother, and I would like to send him a note of sympathy. Will you please suggest the wording of this letter? Shall I send it to his home or office? (I have met his wife several times.)—A. R.

Your note of sympathy addressed to your former employer at his home might read,

Dear Mr. Bradley

I was deeply sorry to hear of your bereavement, and I want so much to have you know of my heartfelt sympathy. I know how dear your mother was to you and I know that your consolation will be the abiding memory of the close companionship you had with her and her noble character.

My friendly greetings to you and your family and my sincere sympathy.

Faithfully yours,

Broadway has been called a cold street and a queer street and a phony street, but if you loved it you know that these allegations are both true and false. GOING IN to Tuesday's games, the official Boston bookmakers' odds were 13-10 against Washington winning the American League pennant, in spite of the mere one game margin that separated the Senators from the Detroit Tigers . . . A peculiarity of the season's price-making on the pennant races was the recent establishment of the St. Louis Cardinals as favorites when the St. Louis club was trailing Chicago by three and a half games.

THE BOOKS were so high on the champions' chance to repeat that backers of Chicago would have to post only $80 to win $100 . . . And the ratio prevailed up into the thousands . . . (Chicago is favorite now, of course).

IF IT IS TRUE—as we have authority to believe — that Vaughn Monroe was offered the leading role in the movie biography of Cole Porter, "Night and Day," it would appear without probing too deeply into the story that the popular band leader's career was set back at a major turning point by rejection of the offer . . . The negotiations were centered here in Boston, which adds to the local interest in the incident.

VAUGHN'S managers advised him to turn down the offer, we are told . . . Money was the stumbling block . . . Cary Grant will interpret the role now, as movie fans know . . . The Grant name means much more than Vaughn's at the box-office, and Cary is an accomplished actor . . . Monroe, on the other hand can out-sing Actor Grant and is equally (his girl fans say) as handsome . . . Tin Pan Alley's judgment seems to be that Vaughn could have taken the role for little or no money and enjoy the boom in his stock which inevitably would have ensued . . . RFC Plans Aid To Hub Business

In a move to speed postwar development, the Reconstruction Finance Corp. today announced a seven-point program to aid banks and industry in financing for reconversion and expansion.

"The program is predicated on bnk cooperation but in cases where bank loans cannot be arranged RFC loan agencies will work to arrange loans for deserving business enterprises," declared John J. Haggerty, manager of the Boston Loan Agency of RFC.

"The Bosto nLoan Agency is prepared to consider directly, or in cooperation with the nation's banks, applications for the following:

Loans for working capital and for completion of civilian production orders; loans against cancelled war contracts and sub-contracts; long-term loans to finance plant reconversion, financing surplus property purchases; veteran loans under its own business loan program or under the GI Act; commitments now for future loans so that industry may proceed with reconversion, and automatically guaranteed bank loans to industry up to 75 per cent with a ceiling of $250,000 for each loan.

First Stay in Hotel

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1—Next month my husband and I are going out of town to attend my niece's wedding. Since her home is not large enough to accommodate all her relatives, she has arranged for us to stay at a hotel. My husband and I have never stayed at a hotel, and we don't know just what to do. We have already informed the hotel that we will arrive there at 11:30 p. m. The rate is $7 a day, and we'd like to know how long we can stay for that amount. Since the wedding is to be at 9 a. m., and there is to be a reception afterward, we are wondering if we would have to vacate our room before 10 the following morning. Or does this rate refer to a 24-hour stay at the hotel?

2—We are completely "at sea" about the tips we will be expected to give. And will you please tell us anything else we need to know about staying at a hotel? B. W.

1—Practically all hotels these days have a rule about when the room must be vacated. Not often if ever, does the rate mean a 24-hour stay. Generally, the rule about vacating is posted in every room. If it isn't, inquire of the desk clerk. Usually the hour set is some time in the late afternoon.

2—When you arrive, a bellboy will come out to take your bag, carry it to the lobby, and wait while your husband registers (Mr. and Mrs. William Ward, Boston). Then the clerk hands the key to the bellboy, who takes your bag, goes to the elevator, you and your husband following. The usual tip to him is a quarter. The usual tip in the restaurant is 10 per cent of the bill, but not less than 25 cents. For your one-night stay, give the chambermaid (or leave it for her on the bureau) a tip of 25 or 50 cents. If you have icewater or a newspapers sent to your room, give the bellboy 10 cents. These are all the tips necessary for your one-night stay, unless you ask for special service. When you are ready to leave your husband goes to the cashier for his bill, pays it, leaves the room key, either your husband or a bellboy carries your bag to a taxicab or to the doorway, and you and he depart. Pleasant journey to you, and don't worry about hotel procedure, for it is simple.

Rich Night Cream Helps Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashions Editor

AT THIS TIME OF year many girls and women get particularly discouraged with their complexions. The liberal exposure to the sun all summer has given you a tan, but as it fades you realize also that it took away the natural oils which keep your skin young and alive.

The sun gives us health, but it also has its beauty toll . . . for those "squint lines" you now discover are part of the price we pay for basking in the sunlight. The natural lipoids, cholesterol and other elements which make for a soft complexion are dissipated by summer heat, and are always less abundant as we grow older.

That is why the young girl doesn't need a night cream as a rule, but the older girl should use one to safeguard her skin against that flaky condition. You may not have to use it every night . . . but whenever your skin needs it you should be alert to give your face a nightly coat of a good cream until it is restored to beauty.

There is an extra rich night cream which was created just to correct a dry skin condition, a cream containing cholesterol and other ingredients which replace those your tissues have lost.

For the first time in four years, the manufacturers of this night cream are offering their $2 jar for a limited time for only a dollar. The sale will last only from September 15 to October 15, and you will be very grateful to us if you take advantage of it.

Call LIBerty 4000 weekdays except Saturdays before 5, or write, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope, for more information about this night cream bargain.

THIS YOUNG LADY is apparently pleased with how her skin looks as she gives it the nightly bedtime care . . . and you will be too, if you correct dryness with a good night cream which is now being offered in Boston at half its regular price.

Broke Up, Now He Wants to Wed Her

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

For two years I went out with a young man who is now in the Navy. He's 22 years of age, and I'm 23. He wanted me to become engaged to him last December, but I thought we'd better wait because his mother seemed opposed to my religion, and because I thought engagement rings were too expensive. When he went into the Navy we corresponded. In a few months my letters started dropping off, and he wrote that we'd better break off. He said he still loved me, but intended to stay in the Navy after the war.

The death of his mother changed all his plans about staying in the Navy, and he wanted to start going with me again. But I couldn't make up my mind. We're writing to each other now, and he keeps saying how anxious he is for the war to end so he can come home. I know I still like him, but am UNDECIDED.

Your heart must be your guide in deciding whether you marry this young sailor or not. Your writing fewer letters to him for reasons stated, and his reply that he still loved you, but thought you'd better break up, was just lovers' quarrel stuff and showed you were both hurt and were trying to get even with each other.

The way you react when you see him again will be the real test of your feelings. Marriage, as you have observed, is not all lovemaking and honeymoon. As well as love, there must be respect and confidence. If you have these sentiments toward the young man, it would be well to marry him. If you doubt, it would be better for both if you parted.

Formal Tunic Coat

By BETTINA BEDWELL

A TUNIC COAT that can get around in the afternoon and go out to the grandest kind of evening party is one of the ideas presented in the fall styles. It is made of wool and is good and warm, and, being a little less than knee length, it looks good with both long and short skirts.

What gives this coat its glamor is the luxury fur that trims it. Miss Dulin has sketched one model for you to see. This is from Mac Wise and is made of black broadcloth with very wide, luxurious lapels of snowy ermine, and the muff is also made of ermine. The coat has loose sleeves and a fitted set-in belt from which the tunic skirt section flares gently.

Lunchbox Treats

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

AS THE LITTLE red school house once again welcomes its many girls and boys, mothers welcome recipes for lunch box foods. Sandwiches are a particular favorite, and especially so when they're made with variety breads. Quick breads with their refreshing flavor combinations of fruit and nuts are a tasty pep tonic at noon lunch periods. Youngsters will tuck extra slices of this bread into their lunch box for afternoon snacks, too.

Thin slices of Prune Orange bread may be spread with softened butter or margarine and made into plain "bread and butter" sandwiches. Other fillings such as peanut butter and marmalade, softened cream cheese, or apple butter make pleasing varieties.

PRUNE ORANGE BREAD

½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar 2 eggs
¾ cup chopped cooked prunes
2½ cups sifted enriched flour
4 tsp. baking powder
2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. cinnamon
1 cup ground whole orange, pulp and juice
½ cup milk
½ cup chopped nuts

Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs. Beat well. Add prunes and mix thoroughly. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. To creamed mixture add flour mixture alternately with ground orange and milk. Mix thoroughly. Add nuts and mix well. Bake in greased loaf pan in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 1½ hours. Makes 1 loaf, 4½x8½ inches.

Cereals in bread make delicious changes for lunch box sandwiches, too. This traditional oaten bread is chockful of prunes and nuts. It makes an excellent sandwich when slices of it are filled with cottage cheese. It is nice to know that such a sandwich is full of protein, important B vitamins, and minerals, too. Bran bread, corn bread and flake cereal bread are other economical easy-to-make breads for sandwich variety.

SCOTCH OATEN BREAD

2 cups sifted enriched flour
½ cup sugar
2½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. soda 1 tsp. salt
1 cup rolled oats
1¾ cups buttermilk or sour milk
2 tbsp. shortening
1 cup diced, drained, cooked prunes
½ cup chopped nut meats

Sift flour, measure, resift with sugar, baking powder, soda and salt. Add rolled oats and mix thoroughly. Combine buttermilk or sour milk with melted shortening that has been cooled slightly. (If you have neither buttermilk nor sour milk on hand, simply add 1 tablespoon of vinegar to 1¾ cups of sweet milk.) Add to the flour mixture with prunes and nuts, stirring just enough to moisten the dry ingredients. Do not beat; the batter should be lumpy. Turn into well greased loaf pan, top with whole pecans and prunes. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 1 hour or until done. Makes 1 loaf (9x5x3 inches).

Cereal breads have good keeping qualities. They are moist and easily stored in cake box or refrigerator. Bake them while in the kitchen doing canning.

Veterans' Friend

Q—Has the Marine Corps announced any point system for discharges? W. E., Boston.

A—Yes, the same as the original Army plan. Minimum points however today were lowered from 85 to 70. One point for each month of service since Sept. 16, 1940. One point for each month served overseas or afloat, since Sept. 16, 1940. Five points for each award. Twelve points for each child under 18 years up to a limit of three for children.

Q—My brother-in-law was killed in action. His insurance is divided between his wife and father. The father claims that when the full amount of policy has been paid to wife she will not receive any further benefits. He (father) states payments will continue until his death, regardless of amount. Is this true? V. T., Portsmouth, N. H.

A—Each beneficiary will receive equal share of the insurance benefits. When final payments are made, policy ceases and deceased's father would not be entitled to any further payment. Wife, however, eligible for pension providing she does not remarry.

Q—My ex-husband is expected to be discharged from Navy under point system. We have three children which he has been supporting through government allotment. Will I be notified when he is discharged. I know he will not inform me and would like to see children's support continued. If insurance policy made out to one of children should I have received notice? H. T., Malden.

A—Following discharge you will receive final allotment check last day of respective month. Navy does not make official announcement to you of his separation from service. Regarding further support, matter for civil authorities. Insurance beneficiary receives Certificate of Insurance.

Q—I have a daughter whose husband is in the Navy. Recently her son was taken ill and brought to Maine General Hospital, in Portland. Will she have to pay his hospital bills out of her monthly allotment or does the government provide financial assistance in such cases? R. H. W., Kennebunk, Me.

A—The Navy does not have a hospital in the Portland area, therefore assistance is provided through the Navy Relief Society. Suggest you contact their office at 79 Exchange st., Portland.

Q—I have three children and am expecting a fourth soon. My husband is expecting to be discharged shortly from the Army. I have already made application for aid through the government. If husband is discharged before child's birth, will I have to pay hospital bill and doctor's fee? M. B., Roxbury.

A—No. As long as you have made necessary application prior to husband's discharge, you will receive benefits.

Q—I am the mother of a soldier killed in action. I was getting an allotment from him as he was my sole support. Am I entitled to apply for his $100 state bonus? C. C., East Weymouth.

A—Yes. Write: State Treasurer, Bonus Div., 15 Ashburton pl., Boston 8, Mass., requesting necessary applications.

WOMEN '38 to 52' are you embarrassed by HOT FLASHES?

If you suffer from hot flashes, feel weak, nervous, highstrung, a bit blue at times—due to the functional "middle-age" period peculiar to women—try this great medicine—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. Pinkham's Compound HELPS NATURE. It's one of the best known medicines for this purpose. Follow label directions.

TRY THIS EASY, ECONOMICAL WAY TO MORE ATTRACTIVE HAIR

For richer-looking, more lustrous hair, massage scalp with Cuticura Ointment to stimulate circulation and loosen dandruff. Later, shampoo with Cuticura Soap. Today at druggists buy fragrant, mildly medicated Cuticura.

"He might feel more kind'ly toward you, Madam, if you'd try giving him Ex-Lax!"

Don't blame your youngster if he "acts up" when you force him to take some strong, bad-tasting laxative. Try Ex-Lax next time, and see what a difference it makes! Ex-Lax tastes swell, just like chocolate! It's effective, yet gentle. Not too strong, not too mild, Ex-Lax is the "Happy Medium" laxative. As a precaution use only as directed.

'You Touched Me' Joy to See

By PEGGY DOYLE

Tough and tender as Edmund Gwenn's grisled, retired sea captain is "You Touched Me," the new romantic comedy Tennessee Williams, who authored the Broadway hit, "The Glass Menagerie," has written in collaboration with Donald Windham.

Based on D. H. Lawrence's short story of the same name, "You Touched Me" was presented last night at the Wilbur by Guthrie McClintic in association with Lee Shubert.

It iwas a joy to see. It represents a dovetailing of skilled talents under the expert direction of Mr. McClintic, one of our finest modern producer-directors. He has secured the utmost in the way of performance from a notable cast including Gwenn, Catherine Willard, Montgomery Clift and Marianne Stewart.

For the second time this week, we had a footlights closeup of a household dominated by a woman. Miss Willard's Emmie is that woman, an egotistical, self righteous meddler and muddler who would have her lovely, young niece follow in her own lonely spinsterish footsteps.

Old Captain Rockley, her brother (Gwenn), five years ago in an unpremeditated attempt to break up this womanish supremacy, has brought home a young boy, whom he has observed blithely whistling a tune on the orphanage fence-rail.

The time of the play is 1943 and the boy, on leave from frontline service, has returned to the only home he has ever known to spend the brief time there. Actually, he has come back to tell the girl of his love, but he's persistently thwarted by Emmie and the girl herself, who is shy, frightened and antagonistic.

"One must speak for Life and Growth amid all this mass of destruction and disintegration," wrote Lawrence, thinking in terms of war and the succeeding days of peace.

In the few days before he must go back to his wartime duties, the young man tries to do just that. Between them, he and the old sea captain contrive to open the girl's eyes to the challenge of life.

Marianne Stewart's young girl singles her out as one of the stage's finest young actresses. Another exceptionally fine performance is Montgomery Clift's soldier who wants the suffering and the fighting and the dying not to have been in vain.

There is a fine rapport between his soldier and Gwenn's lusty, tippling oldster who would free his girl from the doom of repeating his sister's loveless, frustrated existence.

Gwenn gives a superb characterization of the old sea captain, endowing the role with a wealth of rich humor and sound philosophy. His anecdote about the siren porpoise is a comedy classic. Catherine Willard's acidulous, righteous Emmie is a masterful portrayal.

Notre Dame Students Hit Ban on Szymanski

By JACK CONWAY

THE NOTRE DAME student body is up in arms against the rule of the Big Ten Conference that prohibits players who have made negotiations with professional clubs from playing college football. Frank Szymanski, captain and center of the Irish eleven, has been obliged to step out of college football as a result of the action of the Big Ten.

The Notre Dame study body has sent the following telegram to this writer on the heated question:

Charley O'Rourke

"We would appreciate comment in your column on the Big Ten rule passed in July which prohibits players who have made negotiations with pro leagues from playing collegiate football. Because of this rule Frank Szymanski, captain and center of the Notre Dame team who was recently discharged from the Naval Air Corps was forced to resign from the team.

"Our main point is, why didn't the Big Ten commissioners make such a ruling when the first college player signed pro instead of waiting until 200 or 300 made pro negotiations. There is a law in baseball which covers this but there has been no such ruling in football until recently.

"Most of these players affected by this ruling are service and ex-service men who know nothing of this rule. We believe this rule is unfair to Big Ten and Notre Dame players alike.

"We believe, that for the good of collegiate football, the rule should be changed. The rule's retroactive aspect should be immediately reconsidered. Could you help us?"

Retroactive Ruling

I AGREE with the Notre Dame student body that it is unjust to pass a retroactive ruling. Many of the players who have carried on negotiations with the professionals are service men. They did not feel at the time they talked with the representatives of the professional clubs that they were jeopardizing their future as college football players. For most of them professional football was something they wished to play after they graduated from college.

These players now find themselves barred from college football. They are in the same class as Sammy Baugh, Charley O'Rourke and other professional stars as far as the Big Ten is concerned.

There might be some justice to the rule if it applied only to players who negotiated with professional clubs after the rule went into effect.

Seeking Star Players

THERE IS a wild scramble by professional clubs to sign players who made goood in college ranks. If the player wishes to return to college, the professionals are willing to pay the star a bonus for his agreement to sign a contract when he has graduated from college.

Baseball has followed a similar practice for years. By its financial aid it has made it possible for thousands of youngsters who can play baseball to gain college educations. This practice will be increased now that the war is over. The Dodgers recently paid a $12,500 bonus to a high school player for his promise to later play professional baseball.

Men with athletic ability coming out of the armed forces will be eager to return to college sports if they are permitted to give professional football and baseball clubs future options on their services. They will be able to protect their financial futures and also return to college for a continuation of their educations.

The action of the Big Ten Conference was probably prompted by a desire to prevent raids by professional clubs on its players. College football is a big business and its directors do not look with enthusiasm upon the efforts of the professional clubs to sign their stars.

4 Champs Defend In Dilboy Show

There'll be four New England AAAU Junior champions attempting to defend their laurels in the final outdoor boxing show of the season to be staged tonight at Dilboy Field, Somerville, by the George Dilboy Post, V. F. W.

Of the quartet, Sammy Zira, Attleboro featherweight, and Sammy White, Medford lightweight, will have the toughest assignments.

Zira will be up against Rhode Island state champion, Billy Egan, West Warwick, Mario Zullo, NEAAAU senior titlist from Chelsea, Dave Keefe and Leon Jackson of the Sudan A. C. White will be forced to topple Benny DelGarto, another R. I. champion, Bill Smith, Medford, Romeo Paris, former NE titlist from Fitchburg, Mason Fleming, Somerville, and Ed Murphy, Sudan A. C.

Other junior champions will be Tony Nardozzo, Attleboro bantamweight, who'll meet Al Pittore, Boston, Fred Hebshie, Brockton, John Quigg, South Boston, and Larry White, Sudan A. C., and heavyweight Ted Lester, Roxbury, who'll be up against Pete Borisch, North End, Dan Creed, Sudan A. C., and Pete Dugan, Dorchester.

WILDCATS NEED LINE

EVANSTON, Ill., Sept. 12 (AP)—Coach Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern University yesterday continued his search for seven starting linemen as he ran his Wildcats through almost na hour of tough scrimmage, substituting frequently at every sport in the forward wall.

Chandler Sets Oct. 3rd For Start of Series

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—The World Series will start Oct. 3 in the home city of the American League pennant winner and Baseball Commr. A. B. "Happy" Chandler said today that President Truman probably will attend.

The opening date decision was reached at a meeting attended by representatives of clubs that still figure mathematically in the two close major league races.

Chandler said after the meeting that the first three games of the series will be held in the park of the American League winner and the rest of the series, four games if needed, will be played in the winning National League city.

If St. Louis or Chicago wins in the National League, which is almost a certainty, and Detroit takes the American League flag, no travel time will be allowed after the first three games.

If Washington wins the American League flag, Saturday of that week would be set aside for travel.

All eligibility lists submitted by the teams represented were approved and additional returning war veterans will be eligible for the series if they report by September 30, closing date of the major league races.

Umpires for the series will be announced Oct. 1.

Ticket prices will be the same as in previous years with a top of $6 for box seats and a bottom of $1 for temporary bleachers.

For the first time since Pearl Harbor, receipts from the series will go into the funds of the commissioner's office. Since 1941, a substantial percentage has gone to charity.

Ryba on Hill For Red Sox

By BILL GRIMES

FENWAY PARK—The Browns arrived in town this morning to open a three-game series with a single game against the Red Sox at Fens this afternoon.

Mike Ryba, who was seeking his eighth victory of the season was on the hill for the Red Sox. He was opposed by Bob Muncrief.

FIRST INNING

BROWNS—Byrnes grounded out to Metkovich. Finney singled. McQuinn popped to Lake. Stephens flied to Johnson. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Stephens threw out Lake. LaForest lined to Finney. Metkovich struck out. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

BROWNS—Labbs and Schulte fanned. Lake threw out Mancuso. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Muncrief tossed out Johnson. Lazor and Culberson flied to Byrnes. NO RUNS.

THIRD INNING

BROWNS—Gutteridge flied to Culberson. Lake threw out Muncrief. Byrnes popped to LaForest. NO RUNS.

RED SOX—Newsome and Pytlak flied to Byrnes. Ryba flied to Laabs. NO RUNS.

FOURTH INNING

BROWNS—Finney singled. McQuinn sacrificed, Pytlak to Metkovich. Stephens hit a home run, scoring behind Finney. Laabs struck out. Schulte was safe when Metkovich dropped Lake's throw on Schulte's grounder. Mancuso doubled, Schulte holding up at third. Gutteridge was purposely passed. Culberson muffed Muncrief's fly, Schulte, Mancuso and Gutteridge scoring. Byrnes singled, scoring Muncrief. Finney flied to Lazor. SIX RUNS.

RED SOX—Lake walked. LaForest fanned. Metkovich walked. Johnson popped to Stephens. Lazor popped to McQuinn. NO RUNS.

FIFTH INNING

BROWNS—Hausmann now now pitching for the Red Sox. McQuinn flied to Culberson. Stephens was safe on Lake's fumble. Lamb singled, sending Stephens tothird. Schulte flied to Culberson, Stephens scoring after the catch. Lake threw out Mancuso. ONE RUN.

RED SOX—Gutteridge threw out Culberson. Muncrief threw out Newsome. Pytlak walked. Hausmann grounded out to McQuinn. NO RUNS.

Majors Weigh Tour By Series Winner

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—Whether this year's World Series winner takes a 90-day trip to advanced Pacific bases may be decided at a major league meeting here today.

Comr. Chandler will meet representatives of teams still in the running in the two big league races to go over preliminary World Series plans.

The proposed Pacific trip also is expected to be discussed. Secretary of the Navy Forrestal and Adm. Chester W. Nimitz extended an invitation for such a tour shortly before Japan surrendered.

PASS FOR TRUMAN

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12 (AP)—President Truman today received a pass entitling him to attend all of the coming World Series games and to take as many guests as he wishes.

Probe 3 Gotham Ring Fiascos

NEW YORK, Sept. 12 (AP)—Following announcement of an investigation of the Freddie Fiducia-Fred Schott fight in Madison Square Garden Monday night, the State Athletic Commission today ordered hearings on two other recent bouts it considered "unsatisfactory."

Johnny Jones, Pittsburgh welterweight, and Al (Bummy) Davis, Brooklyn veteran, were ordered to appear at the commission Friday as a result of their bout last night in the Broadway Arena in Brooklyn, in which Referee Frank Fullam disqualified Jones in the sixth round for "not trying." The purses of both fighters were held up.

Also directed to appear Friday in what shapes up as the most sweeping action by a commission in years was Johnny White, Negro heavyweight. The commission will ask him to explain his poor showing against Tami Mauriello at the Queensboro Arena on Long Island last week, when the Bronx heavy knocked him out in four rounds. Mauriella has not been summoned.

Earlier, Fiducia and Schett, as well as their managers, were directed to appear the same day in the commission's probe of Monday night's Garden go in which Schott flattened his fellow-Jerseyan in nine rounds. Immediately after this bout, the commission announced an investigation. Fiducia then revealed he had been offered —but did not accept—as much as $20,000 to throw the fight.

Boston Coaching Sessions Postponed

The coaching school for Boston mentors, scheduled to open this afternoon at Public Latin, has been called off until Sept. 22 and Sept. 29 because of the ruling of the school committee which keeps Hub schools closed until next Tuesday. Instead of the three sessions planned for this week, the program will be reduced to two classes.

Jockey Hurt in Gansett Spill

NARRAGANSETT PARK, R. I., Sept. 12—Jockey Stanley Manley was rushed to Notre Dame Hospital suffering from a fractured left collarbone and lacerations of the face as a result of a three-horse spill in the opener here today. Two other riders, Joe Dattilo and Charley Chaffin escaped without apparent injury.

Jump Bid, with Dattilo in the saddle, broke a blood vessel at the half-mile pole and caused Miss iTme with Manley up and Sun Ivy, ridden by Chaffin, to fall.

Chelsea Is Strong Despite Its Losses

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Just because Chelsea High School lost a half a dozen first string players from its Class B championship outfit last fall to the armed forces, don't think that the Red Devils must be counted out of the flag race at this early date.

Coach Henry McCarthy will scoff at any ideas of a repetition with a statement "they'll all have to forfeit our games if we're going to win any."

But in spite of these losses, Coach McCarthy will still have a first string line that will average over 180 pounds and a backfield that will have a pair of stellar veterans and two ambitious sophomores. Just picture what this squad would do if George Finnegan, fb; Bill Kurlin, le; Charlie Hubner, lt; Dick Kazanjaian, re; Buster Salladino, rhb, and Tom Keating, rhb, hadn't moved into the Army, Navy and Coast Guard.

Chelsea's linemen will get plenty of work (and they may need it) before the opening game Sunday afternoon against Lynn English but the backfield may develop into the class of the schoolboy ranks.

Coach McCarthy's co-captains, Johnnie Glowacki and Angelo "Shadow" DiNofrio, will be highlighting the offensive. Glowacki, a top-notch triple threat last season, will take over his usual post in the T formation as the ball handler, passer and kicker. DiNofrio, turtled for the past two seasons by a leg injury and then a shoulder blow, may reach the heights Coach McCarthy predicted two years back—"a greater ball carrier than Johnnie Grigas."

Joe Bishop, 170-pound sophomore, will try his hand at right half with Mike Opolka, 185-pounder, at full. Mike will be taking over the spot his brother, Nick, held before moving on to Holy Cross, and Mike will be wearing his brother's No. 77—just for sentiment sake because Nick was killed in Germany early this year while fighting as a PFC in the U. S. Army. And Mike intends to play his head off for his brother's sake.

Chelsea's forward wall will have only one veteran, Abe Garnick, 195-pound tackle, but there'll be subs up from the second team—fellows like Ronnie Linahan, 210-pound tackle, and Jack Cassani, 185-pound center, and Angie Staffiery, 180-pound end. Sophomores Tony Ballafardo, and Fred Greenfield, a pair of 180-pounders, will be at the guards.

Boston Trade School's former star, Dave Podolsky, out with a broken leg last season, has first crack at the other wing and there doesn't seem to be anyone on the squad who'll edge out his 185-pounds. Podolsky had a big sophomore year in the Hub school ranks before moving over to the Red Devils.

Coach McCarthy has some capable replacements. For example, there are ends Fred Savziano, Billy Holmes, Charlie Kenosian, James Powers; tackles Tom Follis, Fran Hagan, Larry Bloom, and Don Martin; guards Mike Suretta, Norman Wallman, Joe Fallon and Bert Feldman; centers Gus Millona and Ed Houghton; and backs Bob Mitchell, Ed Garrity, Julie Breda, Dave Morovitz, Billy Moore, Bill Cole and Louis Cosco.

Chelsea's schedule, after Lynn English, lists Somerville, Sept. 22; Revere, Sept. 30; at Saugus, Oct. 5; at Nashua, Oct. 14; Wor. Trade, Oct. 21; Belmont, Oct. 27; at Lawrence, Nov. 4; at Arlington, Nov. 10, and at Everett, Thanksgiving.

Melrose High School will open its season against Gloucester, Sept. 22, in the dedication of the Fisherman's new stadium . . . and it won't be at all surprising if the fourth of the Sheridan brothers (this time it's Pete) will be at quarterback . . . his brothers, Bill, Walt and Art played before Pete.

Malden has picked up a pair of temporary assistants . . . Coach Eddie Melanson has had Don McIntyre, qb, and George Sasso, g, from last year's team, assisting him . . . they're waiting for calls into the service . . . Malden may come up with a surprise starter Friday night against Nashua in Martin Sax, 175-pound guard.

John Cotter has taken over as faculty manager at Chelsea High . . . He'll be replacing Bill Kenneally.

Rev. Edward Cowhig, taking over as athletic director at Immaculate Conception of Revere feels that Coach Tony Comerford may have one of the best teams in the Catholic League this season . . . Capt. Marty Conley, 168-pound quarterback, will be leading a group of eleven experienced players into the Cathedral game Sept. 22 . . . Bill Gallagher, 130-pounds, may fit in nicely as a watch-charm guard.

Coach Joe Hickey, taking over at St. Mary's High of Milford, will be taking his pick of players from the intra-mural squads . . . it's been four years since the school fielded a varsity . . . but Coach Hickey feels they may do alright for themselves with 190-pound Bill Grady, a tackle, one of the most promising players.

Winthrop High fans will have to wait until Oct. 6 to get a peek at their team at home . . . Miller Field, evacuated by the Army, will have a new field house—the old barracks — completely renovated . . . Coach Gordon Connor's team will open the season Friday night at Lynn Classical . . . Jack Talcott, 162-pound fullback, will be starting as did his father, William, and his uncle, Roy, against the Lynn team in the old North Shore League.

Zamperini Tells of Jap Brutality

OKINAWA, Sept. 12 (INS)—Lou Zamperini, University of Southern California's great mile runner, said today that although he is only 28 years old he doubts that he will ever run in competition again because of the ordeals of more than two years in Japanese prison camps.

Zamperini, whose home is at Torrance, Cal., scored world's mile records in high school and in NCAA and IC4A meets.

But he set his greatest endurance mark after the B-24 of which he was bombardier was downed by engine trouble in May, 1943, south of Hawaii.

Seven of the 10 crewmen were killed when the plane crashed but Zamperini and two others struggled aboard a life raft.

One of the three, the tailgunner, died after 33 days of starvation and exposure but Lou and the pilot endured for 47 days, drifting an estimated 1200 miles to the Marshall Islands where they were picked up by a Japanese fishing boat.

They were taken to Maleolop and treated very good during the two and one-half days they were held there because a Japanese doctor became interested in their case.

"I had gone down from 162 pounds to 87," Zamperini said. "with good food the last month I've gone back up to 147."

From Maleolop Zamperini was taken to Kwajalein where he spent 47 days and then was transferred by transport ship to Truk and thence to Yokohama.

At Yokohama he was blindfolded and taken to the notorious secret Ofuna prison camp where he was held for 13 months. He then was transfered to Omori and finally to Niigata in March of this year.

At Niigata, Zamperini said, a brutal guard, Sergeant Watanabe, "cracked open my head 12 or 15 times and beat hell out of me by every method he could think of."

Zamperini arrived at Okinawa several days ago and was amazed to find his own outfit, the 42d Squadron of the 11th Bombing Group, which presented him with new wings.

"I don't think I'll run again," he said, "because I don't think it would be wise to put in the hard work to get in condition for competition."

PRE-WAR, IMPORTED

Barclay's Gin is the ∧ berries

5. If you'd like to see how imported ingredients lift Gin quality, taste Barclay's London Dry in your favorite drink. Fortunately Barclay bought large supplies of berries, herbs and barks from such countries as China, Italy, Saxony and Czechoslovakia before the War. Our parent company is the only American producer in this position.

Imported pre-war ingredients give Barclay's Gin a lift in quality you can spot instantly when you smell and taste it.
